

2016-17 SNAPSHOT

Creating a web of green across Melbourne's south-east

Living Links is an urban nature project working to create a web of high quality, interconnected green spaces across Melbourne's south-east. By improving the connections between the many parks, reserves, open spaces, coasts, beaches, pathways, rivers, creeks and wetlands, we aim to make this area a world-class urban ecosystem. This will improve habitat for wildlife, as well as making it easier for people to experience the many benefits of connecting with nature in this urban setting.

Living Links is a partnership between Councils, Government agencies and community/interest groups including:

City of Bayside
City of Casey
City of Greater Dandenong
City of Kingston
City of Knox
City of Maroondah
City of Monash
City of Whitehorse
Frankston City Council
Yarra Ranges Shire Council
Melbourne Water
South East Water
Parks Victoria
Bushwalking Victoria
Conservation Volunteers Australia
Port Phillip & Westernport Catchment Management Authority

Over its 10 years of operation, Living Links has developed a long-term corridor plan and undertaken over 100 on-ground projects to enhance environmental values and recreational opportunities across Melbourne's south-eastern suburbs.

What Living Links achieved in 2016-17

10 years of Living Links celebrated in 2016

$1 million

secured to enhance the Dandenong Creek corridor

7804 hectares

of native vegetation managed or established

300,000+ native plants

planted to improve habitat and strengthen corridors

179 kilometres

of riparian vegetation enhanced along waterways

9.6 kilometres

of recreational trails established or improved

16,000+ hours

of volunteer time spent caring for the environment

Looking forward

The next three years will see the ongoing delivery of environmental and community engagement works as part of the $1M 'Transforming the Dandenong Creek into a World-Class Urban Living Link' project (funded by the state government). We will also continue to look for new funding opportunities to continue work throughout the broader catchment. In particular, we are interested in developing partnerships with the health sector, which is increasingly recognising the importance of regular contact with nature for people's health and wellbeing.

For more information on Living Links:

Sarah Maclagan, Living Links Coordinator
Port Phillip & Westernport Catchment Management Authority
Phone: 03 8781 7943
Email: sarah.maclagan@ppwcma.vic.gov.au

www.livinglinks.com.au

